How to be a Guest like an Admin, with special powers_t

06 October, 2018

Why did we develop Zabbix Autodocs?

How can I monitor my hosts or applications? Which metrics and alerts are available?

Is there a way to list which metrics we are monitoring on our hosts, which triggers are configured for each of these metrics and who'll receive the notifications for these triggers in case of alert?

Demo video: How does it works?

The screenshot displays the Zabbix Auto Docs web interface. The browser address bar shows the URL: `prdmonlife001imo.yoox.net/demo_autodocs/#/`. The page features a Zabbix logo and a header indicating it is powered by the Monitoring Team at YOOX NET-A-PORTER GROUP.

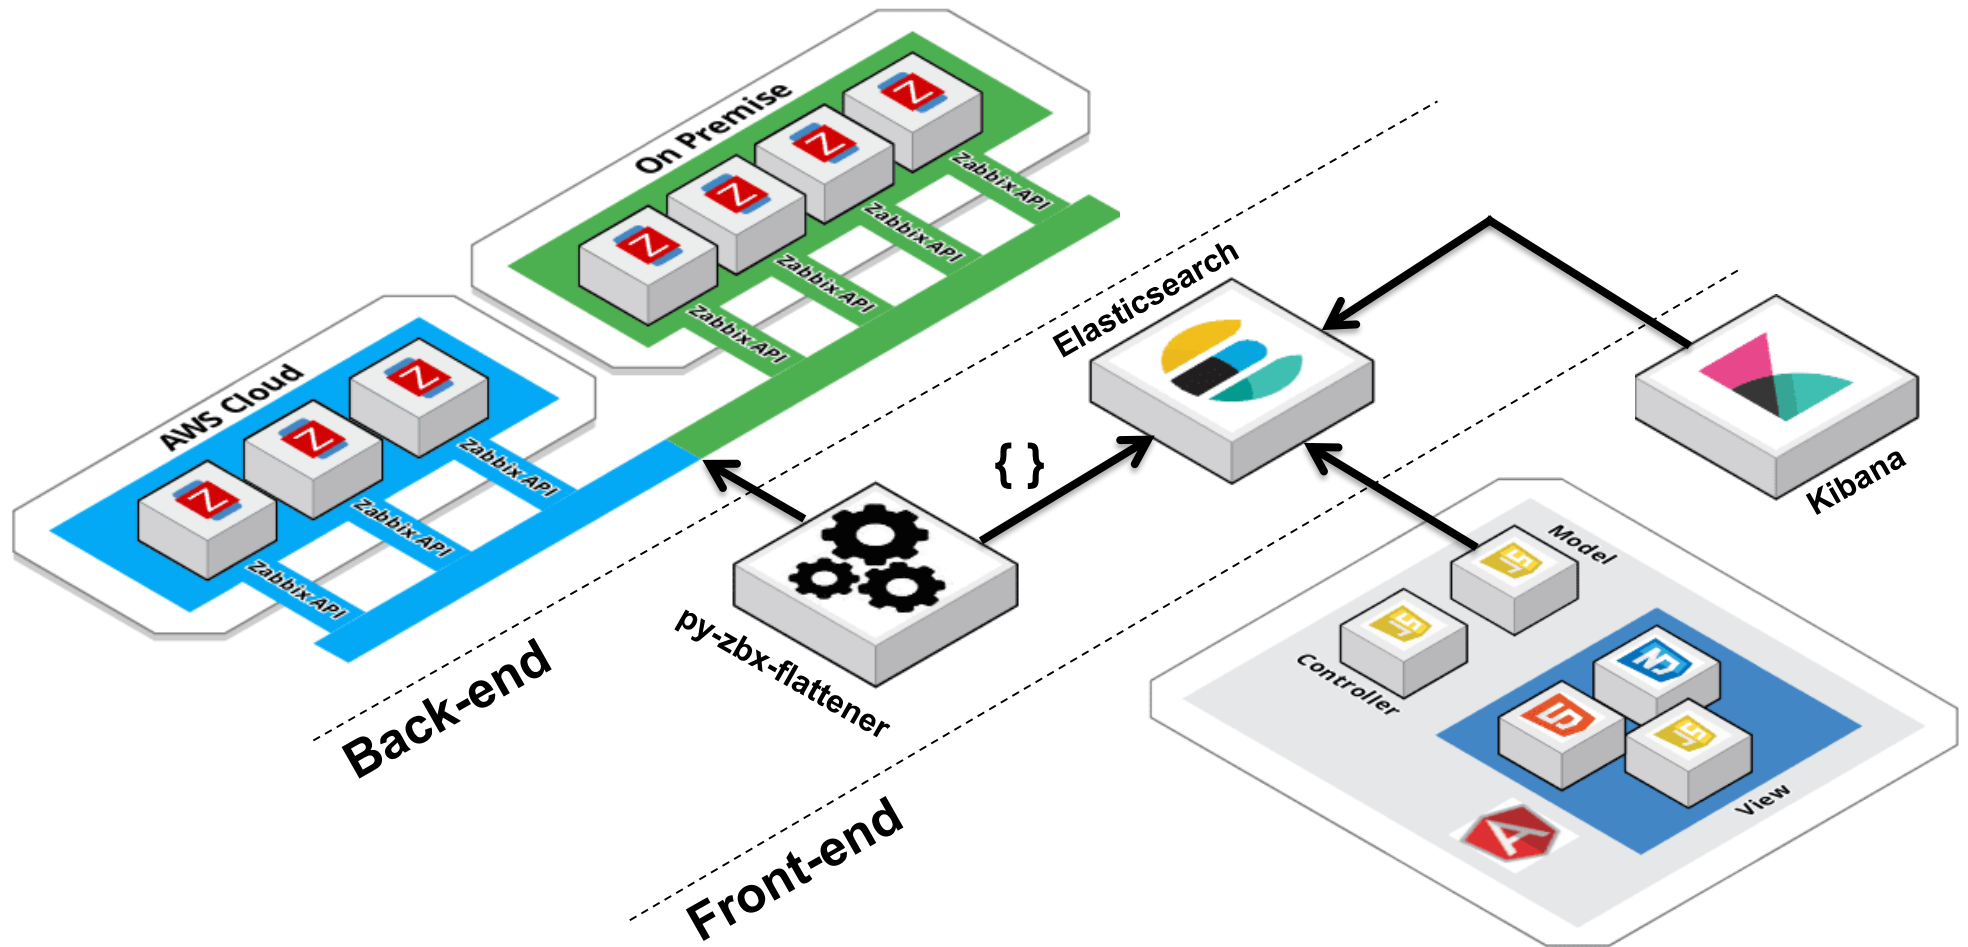

The main content area lists three categories of data:

- Hosts - 6078 rows: Includes a search bar, a "Reset" button, a "Show 5" dropdown, and pagination controls (First, Prev, 1 of 1216, Next, Last).
- Templates - 5771 rows: Includes a search bar, a "Reset" button, a "Show 5" dropdown, and pagination controls (First, Prev, 1 of 1155, Next, Last).
- Metrics - 483357 rows: Includes a search bar, a "Reset" button, a "Show 5" dropdown, and pagination controls (First, Prev, 1 of 96672, Next, Last).

Below these lists, a section titled "Zabbix Endpoints" contains a table with the following data:

Url	Datacenter	Discovered?
<code>http://zabbix.ewe1.aws.yoox.net/zabbix/</code>	YNAPSSDEV	true
<code>http://www.zabbix.ewe1.aws.prod.e-comm/zabbix</code>	YNAPSSPROD	true

Architecture

Future features

Query the Autodocs elasticsearch database by a browser extension in order to inject the notification receivers into any Zabbix triggers configuration page.

Use it as an active centralized manager to send configurations to Zabbix and to give a monitoring as a service.
